Project Name: Confederation Landing Park, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island.

Commonly referred to as the "Gem" of the Charlottetown waterfront, the Confederation Landing Park occupies marks the site of the historic landing of the Fathers of Confederation in 1864. The Confederation Landing Park offers visitors and Islanders alike, a beautiful oasis on Charlottetown's waterfront where they can enjoy the walkways throughout the park or relax on a park bench and enjoy the activities in the park or on the water. The park also adjoins the Peake's Wharf and marina that offers safe berthage for local and visiting sailors. The marina also offers boat tours throughout the summer months. Also adjacent to the park there are a number of casual restaurants and bars, souvenir and craft shops. The park also plays host to a number of summer festivals and events and outdoor concerts 64 decorative pole mounted site lighting luminaires provide safe and decorative nighttime illumination for nighttime events and casual evening strolls through the parks many pathways.
